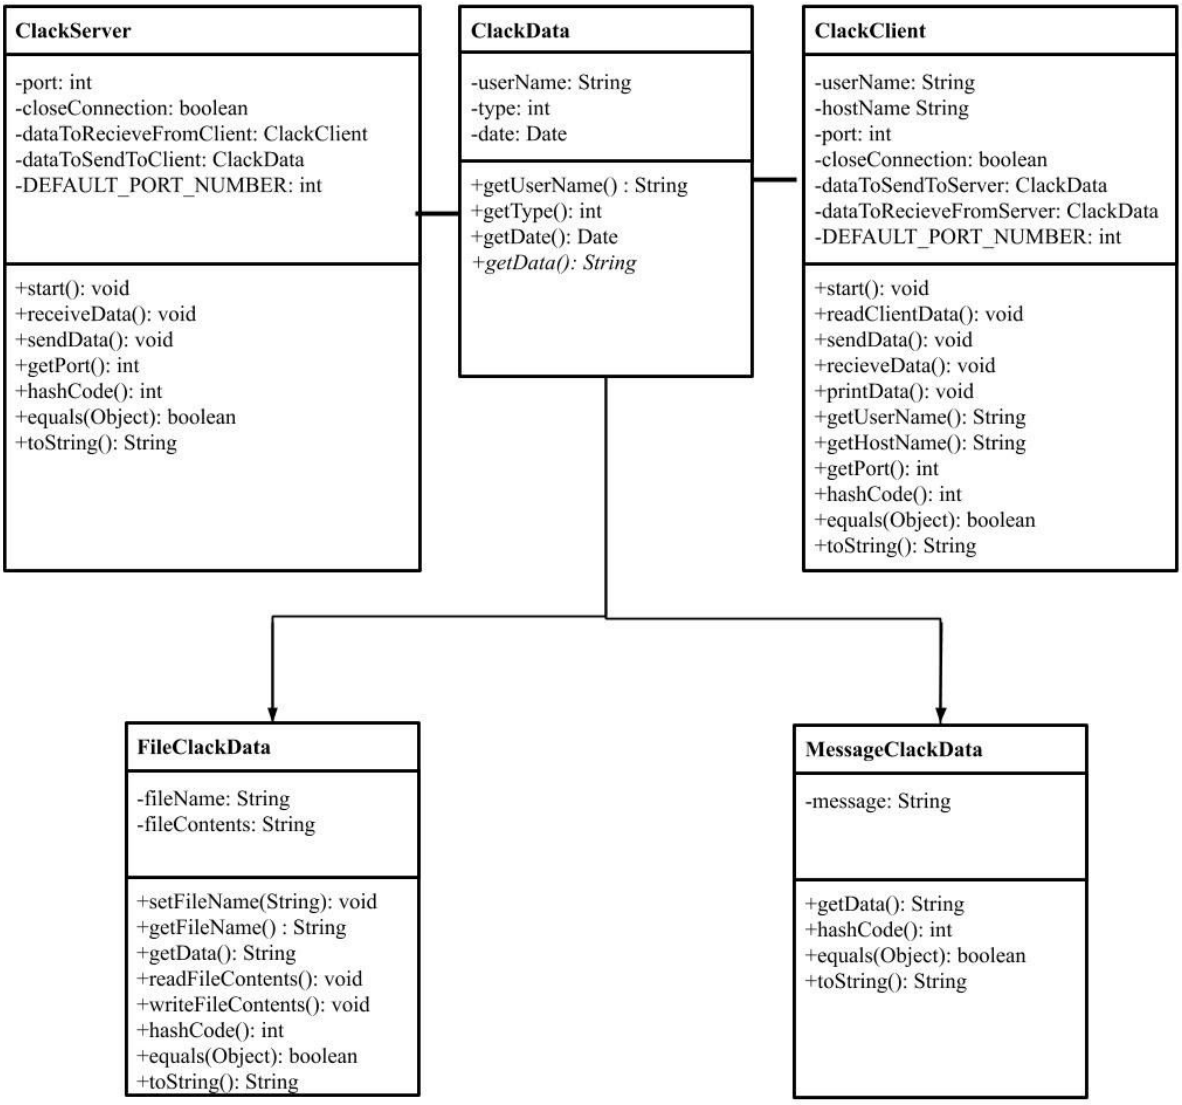
Report

Matthew Frommeyer & Colin McDonough

Class Diagram:



Report Question:

In the test cases if a negative value is given for port or a null value for a name the program does nothing different at the moment. To fix this problem all we need to do is a check to make sure that the information the user has inputted is valid, and if it isn't then alert them and ask them to provide valid information.